Feminine FLORIDA

DORIS DANIEL

One of the biggest problems housewives today is the matter of budgeting her food dollar. With food prices steadily rising and the prospect of having to economize even more, we could all use a few suggestions as to how to best that bugaboo inflation.

A main essential in bringing variety as well as economy into your meals is advance planning. You will find that a little advance planning before you go marketing will mean a substantial saving in both time and money.

Economists have proven that "impulse shoppers" not only spend more of the family income, but their poor shopping habits result in return trips to the market for items they forgot to buy.

This same impulse shopper goes to market without planning her menu and shopping list ahead.

When she gets to the store she has forgotten to buy the things she needs and most of the time she buys just what appeals to her at the moment rather than what she needs and what fits her pocketbook.

Before you start out to the store go through your cupboards and the refrigerator to find what staples are needed.

After you have listed the staples, make a general plan of menu for a few days ahead. It is always a good idea to check the menu with the basic seven food guide to be sure that all the essentials for good nutrition are included. Then it is time to calculate the cost to fit the budget.

Since it is not women shop in the same unimpulsive way as men. Housewives will find the best time to market is right after breakfast.

Shoppers who are tired often do not use their best judgment in buying and those who are hungry may buy too much or foods that are too expensive.

You will find your food dollar going farther than ever if you take the time to build your menu around foods grown right here in the Sunshine State.

From appetizer to dessert you can prepare foods that will perk up the most jaded appetite. And best of all, you can achieve this at very little cost.

Since our perpetual Florida gardens keep us supplied with a variety of new and different products all year around.

With meat prices at a pinnacle the Florida housewife can find no product more versatile and economical than fish.

The most common fish found at our fish markets are sea bass, trout, mackerel, mullet, flounder and grouper, as well as clams, oysters, shrimp, crabs, crawfish (including the Florida lobster) and in most markets we find the unusual Florida seafood such as taro, steaks, terrapin and conch steaks.

There are hundreds of different fish and seafoods and you can serve them many times a week without your family's appetite becoming dulled. The more common ways of frying, broiling and baking fish are well known to us all and even these methods may be dressed up by adding various sauces to our seafoods.

As for the all important vegetables in your menu—there isn't any one of them that the produce department isn't stocked with a choice selection of nutritious vegetables. You can break the monotony of vegetables by serving butter sauces and cream sauces made zesty by the addition of onion, mustard, horseradish, pimiento—or, add cheese, green or ripe olives, chives, and hard cooked eggs to these sauces and you'll be getting requests for second helpings instead of those groans. I could not possibly name all of the Florida vegetables available for some use, but here are a few.

How many of these have YOU used lately? Next time you go marketing you will find plenty of money prices on asparagus, lima beans, string beans, beets, broccoli, cauliflower, okra, celery and several varieties of cabbage such as Chinese cabbage, cauliflower and kohlrabi. Cabbage by the case is not costly and is convenient to have on hand these hot days.

To round out your meal don't forget a plentiful supply of fruit for just the conventional oranges and grapefruit either but try some of the exotic fruits such as papayas, guavas, persimmons and mangoes to name a few.

Whether you are a native Floridian, a newcomer or a visitor, you are sure to find many unusual treats when you use and prepare native Florida foods. Perhaps you have a favorite Florida recipe that you'd like to share. Send it along to me—Doris Daniel—in care of this paper and we'll pass it along. Any questions about Florida foods or any phase of Florida living that you may have will be welcomed and I'll make every effort to help you.

Many Floridians are so busy entertaining guests from out of the state that they sometimes overlook the beauty and grandeur that is around them. The Stephen Foster Memorial will prove a valuable addition to the tourist attraction within the state, but residents, too, should take full advantage of this monument. It would be shameful not to get full benefit and culture from this shrine and the many other Florida museums. It took the world many years to give full recognition to the genius of Stephen Foster. Let's all pay tribute to this great man by visiting his shrine. Perhaps you will find the same inspiration and tranquility on the banks of the serene Suwannee River that Stephen Foster did.

Stephen Foster contributed a great deal to the world of music, but by writing a song of simple beauty, he also brought world renown to an otherwise obscure Florida town. While Spring, situated on the banks of the river, and the area surrounding this community are now progressing into one of the state's outstanding tourist attractions.

On October 3 Governor F. Lee Warren dedicated a $200,000 memorial center at White Springs honoring Stephen Foster and his work. The Foster Memorial Building holds many of the composer's original manuscripts and his personal possessions. Mrs. Jessie Welch Rose, the musician's granddaughter, participated in the ceremonies and cut the ribbon officially opening this museum to the public.

Warren, in making the principal speech, gave tribute to America's greatest composer, and expressed the wish that all would pay homage to this truly great man.

Although many people believe the story about Foster's never visiting Florida, this story has been proven erroneous. Stephen Foster visited Florida in 1850, and while spending some time near Ellaville, he was inspired to write this immortal ballad.

Flanking the Suwannee River is the Suwannee River State Park, which covers about 1650 acres. Here in the park are relics of Civil War battles for the defense of the river, and a delightful recreation area. At White Springs, locally believed to have been the site of arthritis and rheumatism. Surrounding this spring is a lovely, secluded beach.

Aside from making this park accessible and enjoyable, the Suwannee River remains as it did back when Stephen Foster first came to this beautiful spot. Foster was inspired by the interesting and varied characteristics of the river. After emerging from the swamp, it cuts through a rolling area of limestone hills where it flows between high bluffs and through lands which are given over to large plantations. This is the part of the river which Foster knew and immortalized in his melodic essay.

the direction of the great evangelist leader, Reginald Wall, Reverend L. H. Griffin, pastor of the local Baptist church called a series of Cottage prayer meetings.

Tuesday night meetings were held at the following homes: Tom Forrester, J. H. Chambliss, Sam Knight, George Crews, Hillsboro Farm, B. Q. Waddell, E. D. Humphries, Jessie Bergman, Milton Bracken, W. C. Bamford, George Huffy and E. Kirkman. Candlelight arrangements and special music were carried out in many of the homes and a good attendance overall resulted.

Union prayer services were conducted Wednesday evening at the church and cottage services held again Thursday night.

Garden Club Ladies Give Demonstration At School

In an endeavor to interest young girls in garden activity, a meeting was held Monday afternoon in the sixth grade room of the elementary school, conducted by Mrs. S. A. Roberts, Junior Garden Club Chair-

Mrs. Luther Jones demonstrated various arrangements of flowers while informing the girls on color harmony and suitable floral combinations for bouquets. She was assisted by Mrs. Ivan Van Horn, senior Garden Club president.

The 44 interested girls, hollyhock, zinnia seed and a different plants for their home projects and for the school plot they have selected as a joint project.

The next meeting date will be November 13th when a program on Thanksgiving table arrangements will be given by Mrs. Luther Jones.

coordinated efforts so that on the ground reports from the disaster areas were wired to Washington by state field men during the week.

The Washington office prepared the necessary declaration for the Secretary of Agriculture to sign and publish so that the crew could be on the job here by Wednesday afternoon.

Senator Holland's visit to the Glades for a personal inspection and his urging the necessity for prompt action facilitated the coordination thru the Secretary's office in Washington.

With offices set up at OSCOLA CAMP, applicants will be in filling out requests and a Committee is meeting this morning for final "yes" or "no" Mr. Stewart pointed out that the law with accompanying regulations as to eligibility and procedure with the Secretary's declaration of disaster areas dictates his activities but that his force is out here to facilitate the work of the farmers back on their crops.

Others in the party which included Mr. Stewart, Mr. J. M. Hollingsworth, loan officer, William B. Hall, field representative, Curtis J. Green, Assistant to Mr. Stewart.

Briefly, you must be a bona fide farmer, to have suffered from the disaster and be unable to obtain further credit locally to be eligible; a crop lien will be taken and the money repaid out of the first net returns from the crop.

You cannot borrow to pay debt—only to enable you to pay for cost of putting in new crops.

This is not a debt or donation—it's emergency and temporary financing on a loan basis.

Information

The Following Requirements Must Be Met In Order For You To Be Eligible For A Disaster Loan.

1. You must be a citizen of the United States.

2. You must be a bona fide farmer, either land owner or renter. In the event you are a renter, you must have a copy of your lease and must obtain a subordination agreement from your landlord.

3. You must be unable to obtain this credit from other reliable sources. You will have to produce a written statement from the local bank, Production Credit Association or other money lender, stating they are unable to lend you the funds you require.

4. We will require a FIRST CROP AND CHATTEL MORTGAGE as security for our loan. In the event your crop is not mortgaged, you must secure subordination agreement from the mortgagee.

5. In the event a REAL ESTATE MORTGAGE is required to secure your loan, you will be required to obtain Title Insurance to protect your loan.

6. The loan will be made for this crop season to cover costs of production only; the Note will be due when crops are harvested and will accrue interest from the date of the check.

7. Your application must be certified by our County Committee as to your eligibility to receive this loan.

8. We will not make loans to refinancing existing loans on equipment or real estate.

9. You will be required to give a crop assignment on your crop, stating that all proceeds from the sale of produce, above the harvest costs, are to be mailed directly to the Farmers Home Administration office from the broker or produce company, send remittance to

10. Funds will be deposited in a Bank and cannot be drawn from this account without the signature of the County Supervisor and borrower. Payment will be made on presentation of the office of statements from the business firms showing for which the loan was made. Payments will be made for production labor of your payroll.

GRABER BOWLING TEAM WINS OVER CLEWISTON

The Graber sponsored women's bowling team swung its way to a two out of three game victory over the Clewiston Parker Pharmacy team a week ago Thursday night. The team ranks top in the league.

Pat Snyder maintained a 147 top score for the team.

A. E. Kirkman's woman's team lost out to Mack's team of Clewiston dropping two games of three games. Mrs. Jim Williams held top score.

foundation of the ground applied spray is supposed to be more effective than air born dust according to reports.

A disturbed citizen suggested that perhaps the mosquitoes hadn't read the reports and subsequently didn't give up the ghost on due.

So ground and air forces met in battle. According to the inspector, the fog-a-way may get a bump steer on his last application of spray. He continued that the cost may be instead of the correct five per cent crew.

But the man offered to furnish the city with another complete sousing without charge which he believed would be the best.

That was supposed to be the end.

Time to get those summer kinks out of your Buick!

There's a change of your Buick, too, as fast as it is. Hot summer driving has taken its toll—in played-out lubricants, spark timing, a carburetor not adjusted properly, a better mileage and snap if it were properly adjusted now for fall driving.

Point is—your Buick will feel a lot friskier in the trying days to come if you let your Buick dealer get those summer kinks out of its system now! Just drive in—say you want (1) a full tune-up and (2) a regular lubrication—and see how much rewarded you are, for a small fee!

Do it this week, will you? Before the rush, you can be served more promptly.

Sunday School was opened at the usual hour with the Supt. Teachers were at their posts. Each class was taught fifteen minutes by the teachers. Lesson Song. Growing through Prayer. The lesson was wonderfully reviewed by the pastor. The offering was $6.43. Offering basket—October 30 and 31. Dress up, if you like, or come "anyway." We know you'll enjoy an evening of fun and relaxation after the hectic strain and jitters of these hectic days. There will be something here to interest everybody—target games for the "lucky enthusiasts," a play by the Little Theatre group for the good friends and benefactors to the well, and trophies for the well, every body likes to eat, we are hoping that our children can come in large numbers. It is always well to have them taking part in an organized activity on Halloween night. Naturally we expect them to grow up in large numbers too. The various attractions will be opened at 7:30 P. M. The admission is amazingly low! 8 cents for everybody!

Classroom Notes
Our third grades have established a little business enterprise that is proving to be quite successful for them. We have set up a convenience to the school population. A store has been set up to accommodate the children and teachers with the purchase of paper, pencils, crayons, candy, cookies, etc. The children of the third grade operate the store themselves. The teacher acts only as purchaser and treasurer. The youngsters are quite enthusiastic about their project and are quite willing to give up their recess periods to serve as sales people. The wonderful part, too, is that all of the children on our campus patronize this "family" enterprise.

The Junior Red Cross Area Council will be held at the Pahokee School on Thursday, October 28th at 3:00 p. m. At that time the gift boxes which the children have been filling for distribution overseas will also be distributed to the Thanksgiving supplies which our children will begin working on immediately. We are pleased and appreciate again this year as hosts to the Junior Red Cross Council in this area.

Everglades Vocational High

First Grade News

The First Grades enjoyed having little Jeanette Lealand visit their class. She listened in on the reading classes which she seemed to have enjoyed. Mrs. T. Reddick has been appointed by the county as special tutor for her.

We also played some of our nursery rhyme records and the stories of "Little Red Riding Hood," and the "Ginger Bread Boy" on the phonograph.

The First grades have been singing Halloween songs. They are eagerly looking forward to their Halloween party. This week they are coloring black cats, pumpkins, witches and making jack-o'-lanterns for Halloween.

Third Grade News

The Third grades have the following pupils as best spellers of the week:

Walter Stephens, Johnny Johnson, Annie Laurel Johnson.

Fourth Grade News

The Fourth Grade B has the following best spellers of the week:

Frankie Williams, Leonard Jones.

Fifth Grade News

The Fifth Grade organized a Christmas Savings Club last Tuesday. The following officers were elected: Sarah Hill, President; Louise Harrell, Vice President; Lillie M. Wright, Secretary; Ulysses R. Holmes, Treasurer; Leroy Nelson, Chaplain; Fred McMillan, Reporter; Gladys M. Wilson, Teacher-Sponsor.

NHA News

The NHA Club of Everglades Vocational High School had its initial meeting Thursday night, October 26, at 8:00 P. M. The program was as follows: Motion Picture, "The Road to a Better Nation." Solo, "The Last With the Delicate Air," Dorothy Clouston. "Mah-Lindy-Loo," Gennie Wells. "Trees," Sylvia Bigelow. Advisor, Mrs. L. W. Clouston. Club Mother, Mrs. A. A. Houston.

Student Council News

The Student Council of Everglades Vocational High School has put into effect some of the laws made by the council. One strict law made is that no student is to be caught in the hall without a pass. Each student would be fined or given a special task. The teacher in charge of that person will be fined twenty-five (25) cents.

The Library Club Books are storehouses! That is what the group of girls that was recently organized is finding out through their activities in the library. Miss Lawson, the club selected the following officers: Barbara Singleton, president; Marian Thompson, secretary-treasurer; Louise Shannon, reporter; Elizabeth Johnson, chairman of program committee. Members included: Shirley Brown, Mildred Johnson, Edna Mae Day, Hattie R. Ellick, Delores Shannon, Sarah M. Polk, Gilbert, Carolyn Collier, Rosa Cain, Mary Byrum, Daisy M. Lane, Sharon, and Barbara. The club was organized for the purpose of aiding in the development of interest in reading, adding other pupils in the correct use of the library, and aiding teachers with their story hour.

Sixth Grade Presented Program

Since our school recognized Fire Prevention Week, on last Friday morning, October 14, the Sixth Grade class under the sponsorship of Miss Catherine Palms and Mr. Eddie Fitzgerald, opened the series of assembly programs for the year by presenting a playlet entitled "Beware of Fire," which had as its aim to help pupils understand the causes of fire and to develop a sense of responsibility in the prevention of fire.

The characters were as follows: Spirit of Fire, Washington Irving; Match, Eugene Wells; Fireman, Oscar Byrum; Newspaper, Carrie O'Neal; City, Rags, Barber; Pullman, Cigarette, Shub, Jonnie Perkins; Kerene, Gasoline, Benzene, Alphonse Powell; Bonfire, James Singleton; Electricity, Barbara Singleton.

Mr. McCurdy further emphasized that the necessity for the prevention of fires was not for one day, nor for a week, but for every day in the year.

Untrusting Services Rendered

Mr. McCurdy further emphasized that the necessity for the prevention of fires was not for one day, nor for a week, but for every day in the year.

Mr. W. C. Taylor, Mr. Joe Mims, and the Boy Scouts of Troop 81 are the flowers while they can be smelled by the principal, Mr. McCurdy, teachers and students of Lake Shore for their untiring services trying to make our campus one of the most beautiful ones in the state. You have worked faithfully to help beauty by bringing and planting grass and flowers.

We really appreciate your services and we feel as if you really have us at heart. Many thanks to you and the P. T. A.

Third Grade News

For the first six weeks of school the third grade has had many thrilling experiences. We have told about our summer vacations and have written about them in story form. We have exchanged stories and made booklets. In our booklets, we have pictures of vacation scenes and activities. The largest number of our stories were about farm life.

Cleanings

1. "A man with a sour face should not open a shop."

2. "Seek not dishonest gains—dishonest gains are losses."

3. "A bore has no friends, but lots of nodding acquaintances."

4. "Tolerance is the ability of putting up with something you couldn't endure if nobody was looking."

5. "The best reducing agent is walking—at mealtime."

6. "People who keep their feet to the ground are apt to pick up dirt."

7. "The best aid for a young girl's complexion... put it to bed before midnight."

8. "Be aware of so-called friends."

9. "These are the times that try men's souls."

10. "Your character is worth more than your reputation."

Playground Equipment

The statement so longer holds true at Lake Shore. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

Our town felt our need for a playground, consequently through an agreement with the County School Board for use of school grounds for developing community playground add parks, the City of Belle Glade purchased and installed our playground equipment south of the school cafeteria. The students are making good use of it and through their enjoyment, they are developing fair play.

Alumni of Lake Shore Elementary Vocational High School, Belle Glade, Florida

Dear Students:

Several of us have received letters from you expressing how you are progressing in your work at E. V. H. We are happy to know that you are doing well and did not find it too hard getting adjusted in a new environment.

Study hard, obey the rules and regulations of the school, and cooperative whole heartily with every effort that is fostered, so that you may bring only honor and glory to the name of Everglades Vocational High School as you did at Lake Shore.

Sincerely yours,

Miss A. L. Edgcombe

First Grade News

It is really a fact that we have taken in the first grade. For it was displayed Friday morning, October 20, when the first grade under the sponsorship of Mrs. Annie Mae James and Miss Elsie Young, presented their first annual program, a playlet entitled "Little Red Hen."

Several characters were as follows: Narrator, Edna Mae Day; Little Red Hen, Blanche Byrum; Chicken, Armenta Jager; Dog, Robert Carter; Duck, Jimmie Lee and Miller, Paul.

P. T. A. News

The P. T. A. met Monday night with the president, Mr. E. M. Taylor, presiding.

The purpose of the meeting was to make plans for the Fifth District meeting of P. T. A. which will convene at Lake Shore, Nov. 11th. We are expecting a delegation of approximately 75.

In order that accommodations would be adequate, several committees and committee chairmen have been appointed. Mrs. T. Tinsley, chairman of the decoration; P. T. A. local and the Boy Scouts of Troop 88 will also serve as

UNIVERSITY TO BE SCENE OF NUTRITION EXHIBITION NOV. 9-10

Newer developments in the nutrition of swine, poultry and dairy beef cattle will be reviewed during the annual Nutrition Conference of the Florida Feed Dealers Association and the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station at the University of Florida November 9 and 10.

Dr. George K. Davis, animal nutritionist on the Experiment Station staff, says the program will open Thursday afternoon, November 9, with discussions of the swine feeding. Speakers for this session will include Dr. Damon Catron, well known swine feeding authority at Iowa State College, Dr. Davis and Dr. T. J. Cunha, head of the department of animal husbandry and nutrition in the University of Florida College of Agriculture.

Annual meeting of the association will be held Thursday.

Dr. Paul R. Record of Security Mills will discuss recent advances in poultry nutrition and Dr. J. Clyde Driggers of the University of Florida will speak on mineral metabolism in chickens Friday morning.

Dr. H. E. Bechtel, Larro Research Farms, will present the latest information on dairy calf nutrition and C. G. Culham, South Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station, will speak on pastures in the feed program Friday morning also.

Harold H. Hoffman, Florida Department of Agriculture, will lead off the Friday afternoon program with a talk on regulatory aspects of feed medication.

Ordman West, botanist with the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station who recently published an illustrated bulletin on the subject, will discuss polonous plants.

Dr. R. L. Burkhardt of Lederle Laboratories will speak on nutrition and diseases of swine.

A panel consisting of Dr. D. A. Sanders, M. W. Emmel, Glenn Van Ness, L. E. Swanson, E. G. Batte and C. F. Simpson of the Experiment Station will close the afternoon program with a discussion of disease problems of livestock associated with nutrition.

Dr. J. Wayne Reitz, provost for agriculture at the University will be toastmaster at the annual banquet and closing feature Friday night.

John E. Gray, Cecile, is president of the Florida Feed Dealers Association and has cooperated in arrangements for the conference.

SURVEY SHOWS RADICAL CHANGE IN HOUSEWIVES

Housewives may not realize it, but their shopping habits have changed radically, especially within the last ten years. According to a recently completed survey of housewives conducted by universities research experts, most women now shop for groceries only once a week, and their favorite day is Saturday. This is due largely to two factors: the prevalence in both small and large communities of the supermarket, which stocks all foods in one location, making it unnecessary to shop from store to store, and the influence of foods advertising in papers toward the end of the week.

But the Friday preference is still mostly habit, and store managers are willing to change all that. They have been urging for years that women avoid the crush of weekend shopping and market at the beginning of the week instead. Any day now is a good day on which to buy food, since the automatic equipment in more than 33,000,000 homes.

In the old days, before refrigeration engineering caught up with the housewife's requirements, it was almost mandatory that she load up on food for the crowded weekend meal schedule, because her inefficient icebox could not be relied upon to preserve foods over a longer period.

Now that the modern refrigerator has replaced the fast-melting ice cake, and the newest models come equipped with special compartments for frozen foods, the lady of the house can save herself wear and tear of crowds by doing once-a-week shopping on a day when customers are fewer in the stores. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday are excellent days, the survey shows. Although 44 per cent of women shop on Fridays, only about three per cent avail themselves of the first three days of the week.

COVER CROPS BENEFITS THE SOIL MORE THAN ANY OTHER PRACTICE

"A good cover crop will be more beneficial to crop land than any other soil practice or treatment," Dr. George Thompson of the University of Florida College of Agriculture pointed out recently.

And the soils professor's statement is a very opportune one, for it comes at a time when thousands of Florida farmers are or should be planting or getting ready to plant winter cover crops of lupine, clover, oats, and rye. In the southern part of the state farmers are planting vegetable crops for winter and early spring markets, but most of the cash crops have been harvested in the northern section and it is in northern Florida that farmers should be planting winter cover crops.

Most farmers who have gotten the habit of planting cover crops do not need to be reminded that they have seen the advantage of cover crops in increased yields of corn and other crops—but perhaps they do not realize just how much benefit their soil derives from cover. So to give them full information on the subject and to convinced farmers who have not planted cover crops that they can profit from them, Dr. Thompson emphasized these points:

A good cover crop protects soil from wind and water erosion, helps to hold soil in place and holds rain water on the land for later use by plants. It prevents loss of nutrients by leaching, retarding downward movement of water and enabling the plants to take up a large portion of the soluble nutrients. When the cover crop is plowed under at the following crop.

Plowed under, a cover crop adds organic matter to the soil, brings nutrient elements from below the surface and deposits them where they can be used by other plants, helps to control weeds, and, if the cover crop is an inoculated legume, adds appreciable nitrogen to the soil.

A good cover crop enriches and protects the soil and keeps it productive. The soil being its source of livelihood, no farmer can afford to overlook the cover crop for protecting and enriching it.

DISABLED VETERANS TO APPEAR IN FILM

Theaters will soon see in local theatres a 10 minute sparkling musical film short starring Bob Hope and featuring 18 of America's most courageous and talented disabled veterans or paraplegics in wheel chairs.

The movie, entitled "On Stage, Everybody!" is a colorful, entertaining one reel film produced by the Disabled American Veterans in cooperation with the Association of Motion Picture Producers. It is distributed through the patriotic efforts of the committees of general sales managers.

Clearwater, to take the national UWF organization, to issue a strong plea for a stronger United Nations able to prevent further Communist aggression.

In a statement issued here this week, the committee called for clarification of UWF's position in regard to the United Nations.

"The United Nations is the greatest hope of mankind in our time," state George Lewis, UWF leader and vice-president of the Lewis State Bank of Tallahassee.

"It is the foundation for real international law and order and the convention should make clear that United World Federalists support its development into a real world governing agency," he said.

The national UWF convention opened in Washington, D. C., Thursday of this week and continues through Sunday, October 17. Keynote speaker is Associate Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, member of the UWF advisory board.

The administrative committee, guiding body of Florida UWF, also announced the election of Phillip B. Stovin of Clearwater as its new chairman. Stovin replaced William K. McVicar of Orlando.

The new chairman announced that the Florida branch will hold its annual Florida assembly in Tampa, November 11, Armistice Day. Carlos E. Boudelle, Philippine delegate to the United Nations and its former president, has been selected as guest speaker, Stovin said.

Named associate executive director was David F. Simmons of Clearwater. He had been tentatively appointed to this post at a meeting in Lakeland recently. Simmons will work with Bennett Willis, former FBI agent in organizing support for the UWF movement in Florida.

So Easy To Look At

Fun star Philip Reed finds lovely Kristine Miller as easy to look at as she finds her reflection in the hood of his new-waxed car. Kristine said, "My car is her look is like a pro!" But Reed says that the sensational new liquid auto wax, Car-Flate, has just as much to do with his car as it does with his girl. "I applied it to my car and it looks like a new car," he said. "It's so easy to look at." Reed is one of the stars of the new production "Triple". Kristine Miller is the star of the forthcoming Western, "High Lonesome."

The film is not a fund raising project. It was designed to portray dramatically the courage and tenacity of more than three million disabled veterans who have fought their way back to useful citizenship. It also demonstrates how successfully the rehabilitation program for our disabled veterans has been developed and proves why this program which is the result of years of development should be safeguarded.

Jerry Hopper, noted Hollywood director, directed the picture at the Paramount studio. Charles Wright Grayson wrote the review.

During Reconstruction Days, many old Florida fields were reseeded and now have beautiful stands of second growth longleaf pine timber on them.

Many of Florida's old homes have hand-hewn beams, cut from the state's virgin longleaf pine forests, that are still in good shape.

FLORIDA POWER & LIGHT COMPANY

Too Late to Classify

By Russell Kay
In all probability an attempt will be made at the next legislature to pass some type of legislation to legalize gambling. In view of this fact, Floridians should be keenly interested in the attempt now being made to legalize gambling in California. Writing in the Christian Science Monitor, Kimball Henderson, chief of the Pacific News Bureau, states that "informed Californians are using the words 'indignous' and 'vicious' to describe the measure to legalize gambling which will appear on the November ballot." According to Henderson, if the measure should pass, it would be a major victory for underworld crime throughout the nation.

It is difficult to believe that the people of any state would vote for such a dangerous setback, but Henderson contends that the measure has a good chance of passing because of the manner in which it is proposed and the fact that it is tied up with old-age and welfare pensions.

As proposition No. 4 on the California ballot will become Article XXXIII of the State Constitution. The proposed law is to raise money for the purpose of paying the cost of retirement of old age and welfare pensions and welfare to all persons and welfare to all persons and welfare to all persons.

Reading this, doubtless many voters will be taken in by the pleasant visions of lower taxes. Those now receiving pensions, and others hoping to receive them, will go all out in an effort to pass the measure calling for secondary pensioners, the crippled, blind and underprivileged.

California voters have shown themselves increasingly generous toward pensioners. The concern in this case is that if they vote for legalized gambling they will be generous only to the underworld, for it is estimated that four billion dollars would have to be wagered in California every year to pay for pensions by this means.

Back of the effort to turn the state of California over to gambling interests, lock, stock and barrel, is an organization known as the Pensioners and Taxpayers Union, Inc. Three of its officers would become members of the Commission to be set up to control gambling, and they are remembered as promoters of California's "Hans and Egg" proposal of a few years ago.

To their credit both the Republican and Democratic parties in California are opposing this measure and are urging its defeat. Governor Earl Warren, a candidate for reelection, says, "I'm against it, hook, line and sinker." Democratic candidate James Roosevelt terms it "bad."

California has only to look at neighboring Nevada to see the results of legalized gambling. Illustrated, James L. Beebe, Los Angeles chief leader, puts it this way—"We're taking the citizens of Reno and Las Vegas, who control your city elections? Your government? They'll tell you it's the big-time racketeer and no one else."

Virgil W. Peterson, whose experience as operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission makes him an authority, says that the proposed set-up is ideal for enabling the gambling interests to parcel out the state among themselves.

In a letter read at a meeting of the Southern California Citizens Committee for Good Government, which is spearheading the fight against Proposition No. 6, Mr. Peterson said, "Efforts are being made in many states to enact legislation in one form or another which will legalize gambling and, almost without exception, the gambling interests are working toward the enactment of such legislation."

It would be well for Floridians to start thinking about this question and talking it over with their legislative representatives. If such a law is proposed for Florida it would probably be tied in with welfare and pension funds and as relief for the taxpayer.

FLA. SAFETY COUNCIL MAKES ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

The Florida Citizens Safety Council is taking active action to reverse an accident trend which now indicates more than 800 Floridians will die in traffic mishaps this year. M. Chapp of Jacksonville, Wynn and Lovett grocery chain executive and president of the newly-formed statewide citizens safety group, revealed that on the basis of present trends 941 persons will be killed on Florida highways during 1950. The figure for 1949 was 800.

"We've got to reverse this appalling accident trend," said Chapp. "Other states have been able to do it and so can we if everybody will work together." Chapp called on the more than 700 charter members of the Council—enrolled when they attended the recent Governor's Highway Safety Conference in Tampa—and all other citizens to take two steps immediately:

1. Organize more local safety groups to help in accident prevention programs at the city and county levels.
2. Give strong support to "Florida Traffic Counter-Attack," a statewide program designed to tighten traffic law enforcement immediately.

The more than 700 citizens who attended the Governor's Highway Safety Conference and the first meeting of the Florida Citizens Safety Council have worked out the broad outline for a sound accident prevention program. Chapp declared, "But that program doesn't do any good unless strong local groups work hard to put it into effect at the grass roots level."

Theme of "Florida Traffic Counter-Attack" is "Everybody Owns Traffic Laws—No Exceptions!"

Chapp and Nat H. Campbell, executive director of the California Citizens Safety Council, encouraged by scores of letters, urged the support of the group's efforts and offering suggestions for its future activities. Let- ters were given to the group's officers and to the Governor's Highway Safety Conference. Davis had opposed organization of the Council at Tampa.

ACNE

Skin authorities estimate that between 60 and 90 percent of all people have been troubled with acne at some time in their lives. Acne is a skin condition which is caused by the overactivity of the sebaceous glands of the skin.

There are two ways of attacking the formation of acne. One is to decrease sebum production; the other is to keep the pores open and free of dirt. The second method is the more effective.
